Join Us in Celebrating International Credit Union Day

"People Helping People" is what we do every day, but this year, it's also the theme for International Credit Union (ICU) Day, October 15, 2015. Since 1948, ICU Day has been observed on the third Thursday of October as a time to reflect upon the credit union movement's history and to recognize its achievements. The credit union is more than just a place to finance your vehicle or save for the future - although it's a great place to do that. The credit union is a not-for-profit cooperative, dedicated to helping you, our member-owners reach your financial goals. All over the world, credit unions exist, not to make profits for a few shareholders, but to improve the financial well-being of all of their members. 2381-00 "People Helping People" is the essence of the credit union idea from Australia to Zambia to right here in your hometown. That's something worth celebrating. Happy ICU Day to all of our member-owners!

The Last Word

Worrying is like sitting in a rocking chair. It gives you something to do, but it doesn't get you anywhere.
